Foreword

The membership of the Mennonite Church as of December 31, 1969, is given in the 1970 Mennonite Yearbook as 114,212, an increase of 3,377 over last year. See Table II in the Statistical Section. The percentage increase is a little over 3 percent. Population growth in the United States is now down to about 1 percent per year. According to most recent information available the population growth in Canada is slightly higher.

The membership increase in the year 1968 was 2,470. The increase in 1969 over 1968 is 907 or approximately a 32 percent increase. The 1969 increase in membership thus is a commendable increase.

So many factors influence membership data within the church that one needs to exercise care and avoid undue optimism regarding the growth in numbers. For example, the 1969 Yearbook of American Churches indicates that in the United States there is an unusual decrease in interest in church attendance. This certainly will eventually have its effect on church membership.

We perhaps can assume, but not without some trepidation, that an increase in membership indicates growth in spiritual maturity as well as spiritual renewal within the membership. However, because of the vagaries of reporting we should exercise considerable hesitation in arriving at this conclusion.

The 1970 Mennonite Yearbook remains in substance much the same as the 1969 edition except for some changes made in arrangements in Mennonite General Conference and Mennonite Board of Education. We have of course updated all data as provided by the various conferences, organizations, and institutions. We want to thank all those who so faithfully attempted to secure correct data and cooperated with the editor in his attempt to present this data according to his understanding. Although the Yearbook contains names, addresses, memberships, financial statistics, Christian education statistics, and the like, we need to remember that behind this cold factual information are living Christians who attempt to make their contribution to the church and to commit themselves to the service of Christ and the church.

The Mennonite Church, 1970

BY HOWARD J. ZEHR
Executive Secretary of Mennonite General Conference

This Mennonite Yearbook, now the sixty-first to be printed, is an attempt to bring together in summary form a record of the life and service of the people of God known as the Mennonite Church. This brief treatment, therefore, does not claim to be all-inclusive. It rather attempts to record those statistics and include those organizations which are recognized as an official and integral part of the total program of the Mennonite Church. The organizational structure provides the systematic channels for expression of the membership's life together and their organized ministry in the world. The membership of this group now totals approximately 114,212 members.

The editor of this Yearbook has a hard and almost impossible task in setting up and administering guidelines for determining the boundaries for including material. There are a number of additional organizations within the Mennonite brotherhood which contribute to the church's life, but which are not included here because they are not considered an integral part of the official structure. This does not reflect in any way upon the extent of their contribution or the degree of their effectiveness. Most of these have chosen to operate outside the official channels.

The Mennonite Church has a growing awareness of the world in which it is called to live and witness. There is abundant evidence that its leaders and membership are sensitive to the Holy Spirit's direction through the church in responding to world need. Effort has been made to hear the cries of the oppressed and troubled, and to see their plight with something of the compassion of our Lord. The staggering problems of our society — poverty, race, and war — have been burdens that deeply concerned the delegate body of Mennonite General Conference in its biennial meeting the past year, and concerned the members of the Mission Board in its annual session.

MENNONITE GENERAL CONFERENCE

Biennial Session

The thirty-sixth biennial session of Mennonite General Conference convened on the Free Methodist Campground, Aldersgate Park, near Turner, Oregon, just across the highway from the setting of the only other such meeting on the West Coast 32 years ago. The sessions were dynamic and exciting and at some points, for some persons, almost traumatic. The delegate sessions were chaired under the gifted leadership of Moderator John R. Mumaw and Moderator-Elect John M. Drescher. Many of the delegates sensed with deep appreciation the depth of dedication of these leaders and their keen sensitivity to what the Spirit was trying to say to the assembled body.

Two major issues confronted the delegates in addition to many others which then became secondary. The needs of minority groups received major concern. The Conference took action to call upon the membership to contribute to the extent of an average of six dollars per member above budget programs in efforts to meet the needs of minorities.

Thirty-two years earlier, a statement on war and military service was adopted in Oregon. The 1969 Conference also discussed the problem of rising militarism and adopted a statement in support of all sincere conscientious objectors to war and military service, including those who for conscience' sake cannot register for the draft.

Study of Structure

The revolutionary changes taking place in our world which demand the church's response create an awareness of the inadequacies in church structure. This was the vision and concern of those who initiated a study of church organization which at this time is entering its fifth year. A new model of church organization is emerging which will attempt to bring together the various autonomous agencies of the church into one single organization for the purpose of better coordination and more effectiveness. A special session is being planned to be held somewhere in the central states area October 20-22, 1970, for the purpose of reviewing the proposals made by the Study Commission on Church Organization. In 1971 a constitutional convention is to be held in August for the purpose of receiving and reviewing a proposed constitution.

Peace and Social Concerns

Effort is being made by the Committee on Peace and Social Concerns to implement the actions of the General Conference delegates relative to peace and social issues. This includes the development of a fund to be used by and for minority groups, giving further guidance to the church regarding alternatives to military service, and in identifying social problems and suggesting directions for Christian obedience.

Christian Education in Conferences and Congregations

The past year marked the thirty-second year for the work of the Mennonite Commission for Christian Education. This commission was brought into being at the biennial session of Mennonite General Conference held in Turner, Oregon, in 1937.

Special emphasis is being given to the promotion of adult education in the congregations with a focus on the training of leaders. A new type of curriculum is being provided which allows a great amount of flexibility in settings and usage. New kindergarten materials are being prepared, and a former graded series of lessons is being revised. New materials are being prepared for the instruction of new Christians. Special experience-centered Bible studies have recently been prepared for youth.

A youth convention is to be held August 16-21, 1970, at Lake Junaluska, North Carolina, where an attendance of 2,000 young people and approximately 400 adults is anticipated.

Brotherhood Concerns

The Church Welfare Committee is promoting an emphasis on brotherhood relationships. Plans are under way to hold brotherhood consultations in which church leaders of differing viewpoints can share together in the discussion and the identification of issues.

Worship

Years of tedious work were brought to fruition in 1969 and culminated in the special dedication service of the new Mennonite Hymnal held in connection with the thirty-sixth biennial session of Mennonite General Conference. The Worship Committee gave leadership in this dedication service.

A special emphasis is being carried forth during this biennium on the gathered life of the congregation. On October 16-19, 1969, a special Worship Seminar was held in the Prairie Street Church, Elkhart, Indiana, under the direction of the Worship Committee of the denomination.

Stewardship

Stewardship is being promoted through congregational and area seminars. It is to be noted that the church's giving has increased substantially during the past year, but not in proportion to the increased income of its members. It is to be further observed that congregations are using larger portions of their financial resources in local programs.

Our History

The Historical and Research Committee continues to stimulate and supervise the gathering of historical data. Melvin Gingerich, competent historian and archivist of the church, has retired as executive secretary for the Historical and Research Committee. Leonard Gross has been appointed as his successor to begin services about July 1 of this year.

Ministerial Concerns

Paul M. Miller, Professor of Practical Theology at the Associated Mennonite Biblical Seminaries, continues to give part-time service to the conferences and congregations in the area of ministerial leadership concerns. A number of ministers' seminars have been held in conference districts, clarifying the role of the Mennonite minister in the life of the congregation. A Ministerial Information Center is operated through the Administrative Office at Scottdale, assisting congregations and conferences in securing pastoral leadership.

Mutual Aid

Mutual Aid is generally taken seriously in congregational life of the Mennonite brotherhood. Mennonite Mutual Aid organization serves the church in an organized way in this area of concern, providing a variety of services to the members of the congregation. Six major entities make possible these various services: Mennonite Automobile Aid, Inc.; Mennonite Church Buildings, Inc.; Mennonite Mutual Aid Association; Mennonite Insurance Services, Inc.; Mennonite Retirement Trust; and The Mennonite Foundation.

Administrative Offices

The Administrative Office of Mennonite General Conference is on third floor of the Mennonite Building, Scottdale, Pennsylvania. The executive officer of the General Conference, the Stewardship Secretary, the Secretary for Commission for Christian Education, and the Secretary for Youth Ministry, along with three clerical secretaries, occupy this office space. The Peace and Social Concerns Secretary is located at Akron, Pennsylvania, and serves half time for the Peace Section of the Mennonite Central Committee. The Historical Committee Secretary and Archivist is located in Goshen, Indiana, on the College campus as is the part-time Ministerial Secretary of the Ministerial Committee.

MENNONITE PUBLICATION BOARD

(Submitted by Ben Cutrell, Publishing Agent)

The Mennonite Publishing House, Scottdale, Pennsylvania, is the operating unit of the Mennonite Publication Board to carry out its mandate from the denomination to provide good literature to strengthen the faith, life, and witness of its members. The House functions as publisher, bookseller, and printer. Its bookselling program is carried on by seven Provident Bookstores located at Bloomington, Illinois; Goshen, Indiana; Kitchener, Ontario; Lancaster, Pennsylvania; London, Ontario; Scottdale, Pennsylvania; and Souderton, Pennsylvania.

Bookselling

The stores are responsible to select books, church supplies, educational materials, and related items from numerous publishers, both denominational and independent, and make these items available to Mennonites and others in the communities where the stores are located. A catalog of carefully selected books is issued every two years to give the constituency a basic list of good books for a wide range of interests. Much good literature is available from sources other than the Mennonite Publishing House. It is the responsibility of the bookselling program to find and promote helpful publications from the various other publishers. The Provident Bookstores account for two thirds of the $3,500,000 annual sales of the Publishing House.

Publishing

The denomination has some perspectives, some concerns, and biblical interpretations that are not adequately treated in literature from other sources. Therefore, the Publishing House publishes books, Christian education material, periodicals, tracts, and church supplies particularly suited to the needs of the denomination. The various publications accounted for about $1,000,000 in sales in 1969.

Printing

Since the establishment of the Mennonite Publishing House in 1908, printing has been done by the organization itself. A modern printing and binding plant continues to enhance the publishing program by giving better schedule control and providing some economies compared with the use of commercial printing services. In addition to manufacturing materials for its own publishing program the Mennonite Publishing House does job printing for other church agencies and religious organizations. In 1969 the total volume of sales produced by the Job Printing Program reached about $270,000. This does not include the value of the printing done for our own publications.

New Organization

During 1969 plans were laid for reorganizing the House to improve effectiveness in the publishing and bookselling work. The editorial and marketing functions have been integrated into departments which are responsible for different product lines. The new divisions are Congregational Literature, Periodical Publishing, Book Publishing, and Provident Bookstores. The Manufacturing Division continues to carry responsibility for layout and design, composition, printing, and binding. A Management Information Services Division is responsible for developing information systems and electronic data processing through the use of a computer. The Personnel Department remains the same as before. Finally, the Finance-Service Division, under the supervision of the treasurer, is responsible for Customer Service (order receiving, order filling, and shipping), Accounting, Building-Maintenance, and Office Management.

The new divisions began to function January 1, 1970. The reorganization focuses responsibility for a line of publications. The Congregational Literature Division is responsible to plan, edit, and promote the sale of literature (primarily Christian education materials) for the use of congregations. Editorial and marketing persons will be members of the same team to produce and distribute curriculum material and church supplies. Customer needs, reader interests, and buyers' wants should come rapidly to the attention of planners and editors working together with the marketing persons.

In a similar way another department will be responsible for the periodical publishing program, a third department for book publishing, and a fourth for the management of the Provident Bookstores. This type of organization may enable the House to meet the financial strain caused by decreasing publication sales and increasing costs. It should shorten the lines of communication between the constituency-consumer and the planner-editor.

Philosophy

Organization is different but philosophy remains the same. Our purpose is to be a communication facility to strengthen the faith and life of members of the Mennonite Church. We serve the entire church and strive to promote unity among those with divergent views. We recognize our responsibility to support the established organizations for church administration and program implementation. We affirm and promote the Anabaptist-Mennonite view of the church and discipleship. We join our readers in the search for a faithful form of witness to the love of God in the modern world in which we live. We acquaint our readers with the streams of thought and action throughout all Christendom.

Publications

The Mennonite Hymnal, published in August, 1969, was well received in the churches. The first printing for our constituency, 20,000 copies, was sold within a few weeks after publication date. A second printing of 25,000 copies was half sold before the printing was completed (December 20, 1969). These quantities do not include copies sold by the co-publisher, Faith and Life Press.

In August, 1970, new Sunday school materials for kindergarten children will be released. The basic text is a Bible story book, God Keeps His Promise, written by Cornelia Lehn and illustrated with full-color art by Beatrice Darwin. Teachers' material and pupil leaflets are provided for both K-I and K-II children (ages 4 and 5).

MENNONITE BOARD OF MISSIONS AND CHARITIES (Submitted by Ivan Kauffmann, Information Office)

The primary, basic objective for the Mennonite Board of Missions program is to witness to the love of Jesus Christ and His salvation, to proclaim salvation, hope, and peace in Him, to relate Christ's love to men's needs everywhere, and to draw believers together in fellowship, nurture, and witness through His church.

A major program of extension and service is carried on by the Mission Board. It serves the church in carrying out a worldwide mission and service program. It sees itself as being in partnership with congregations and other church agencies. The Mission Board has six major program divisions as follows:

Health and Welfare

This department administers ten hospitals, seven nursing and retirement homes, and four child welfare programs for retarded children, children with problems and delinquent boys. Almost 900 persons serve in this program. This department is a liaison for five MCC mental institutions.

Home Missions

Under this department more than sixty Home Missions personnel serve in approximately thirty locations. Most Home Missions projects are administered by district boards or conferences with full or partial support by the General Board. This department promotes and arranges evangelism workshops. Home Bible studies also is a part of this department.

Mass Communications

Offices for this department are located in Harrisonburg, Virginia. Broadcasting is done in seven different languages. Millions of pieces of literature are sent out annually. This department is also involved in bookrack and ad evangelism. Thirty persons are serving at Harrisonburg and abroad in the program of this department.

Overseas Missions

More than 240 overseas missions personnel are serving in seventeen countries. This includes district conference stations working under the MBMC umbrella. The overseas department is working in the area of evangelism and church building in these overseas situations. It helps to develop and promote a missions strategy that is in harmony with the church's concept of evangelism and Christian discipleship.

Relief and Service

More than 300 VS-ers are serving in approximately 55 locations in the United States, Canada, and Puerto Rico. This department also provides services to approximately 1,400 young men in Civilian Peace Service. This department cooperates with Mennonite Central Committee, the Inter-Mennonite Relief and Service Agency.

Student Services

This department relates to more than 2,000 Mennonite students on non-Mennonite college and university campuses.

The annual Mission Board meeting of 1969 was held near Kalona, Iowa, on the campus of the Iowa Mennonite School. The theme of the session was "Believing and Doing." A large group of interested persons numbering as high as 2,000 were present for these sessions. The 1970 Annual Meeting of the Mission Board will be held in the Franconia Conference at Christopher Dock Mennonite School near Lansdale, Pennsylvania. The dates for this meeting are July 1-7. The theme of the meeting will be "The Spirit of the Lord upon Me." An attendance of 2,000 persons is anticipated.

Contributions to the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities amounted to more than $2,230,000 in 1969. At its last Annual Meeting the Board reported having 1,546 full-time persons and 416 part-time persons involved in the mission and service programs.

MENNONITE BOARD OF EDUCATION (Submitted by Paul Bender, Educational Coordinator)

During 1969, the Mennonite Board of Education inaugurated a new internal organization. The new Executive Board of up to twelve persons takes responsibility for the affairs of the Board of Education between its annual meetings. The Executive Board replaces the former Executive Committee.

The ten members currently on the Executive Board are each assigned to a Reference Group to carry special concern in one area of the Board's interests. Four members concern themselves with higher education, three with secondary education, and three with finances. The officers of the Board of Education are members and also officers of the Executive Board.

The larger Mennonite Board of Education continues as before, being made up of representatives appointed by the district conferences, the Mennonite General Conference, and the alumni associations of the schools under the Board, and several members at large chosen by the Board itself. Presidents and board chairmen of the three Mennonite colleges are associate members.

A newly formed Secondary Education Coordinating Council permits the Secondary Education Reference Group of the Executive Board to counsel with administrators and board members of the Mennonite high schools and the churchwide Youth Secretary. Through this group the broader interests and concerns of the church in secondary education can be dealt with.

Over the past several years a special higher education group has been dealing with the common concerns of our Mennonite colleges, and this group continues to function. Along with persons from the Executive Board, it includes administrators and board members of the three colleges —Eastern Mennonite, Goshen, and Hesston. This group has worked out understandings with several district conferences regarding the solicitation of students and finances for the Mennonite colleges in these conferences. It continues its conversations on churchwide higher education matters.

Mennonite colleges are in the midst of the rapid changes of our times. New approaches to college programs are designed to meet the new demands and to help young people to find their place as Christians in the present world. The Goshen College Study-Service Term Abroad opens new outlooks to students for their understanding of world situations, and brings new motivation for service. The Eastern Mennonite College team-taught courses link all knowledge and human experience to a Christian perspective. Hesston College is planning for its role in the seventies as a two-year college to meet specific needs of Mennonite youth.

The Finance Reference Group brings to the Executive Board recommendations regarding the Board's financial interests. These include the church's interests in the financing of its educational programs, as well as the financial development and operation of the schools of the Board.

Melvin H. Lauver, a minister living at Akron, Pennsylvania, has resigned from the position of treasurer of the Board after twenty years of efficient and dedicated service. In the new organization of the Board, staff work has been separated from board level functions. The new staff Director of Financial Affairs is John Hostetter, Jr., a Certified Public Accountant with an office in Goshen, Indiana. The chairman of the Executive Board's Finance Reference Group and corporate treasurer is Clifford P. Martin, who has been a banker in Elkhart, Indiana, and has been a member of the Mennonite Board of Education for a number of years.

During 1970 the operation of the Goshen Biblical Seminary is being transferred from the Goshen College Board of Overseers to the newly formed Seminary Board of Overseers. This gives to the seminary an organizational existence separate from Goshen College. The Seminary Board of Overseers will be responsible directly to the Mennonite Board of Education for the operation of the seminary. A separate president for the seminary is being chosen.

For the past decade, the Goshen College Biblical Seminary has been associated with the Mennonite Biblical Seminary located in nearby Elkhart and operated by the General Conference Mennonite Church. This association continues, in which the faculty members of the two seminaries are shared and students are in joint courses and the library is jointly held. In 1969 the full operation of the Goshen Biblical Seminary was moved to the campus of the Associated Mennonite Seminaries in Elkhart.

With the resignation of Paul Mininger from the presidency of Goshen College, after sixteen years of effective service in this office, a new president for Goshen College is being chosen.

The Ontario Mennonite Bible Institute closed in 1969 after a long history of important service to the youth and to older persons, both of Ontario and from widely scattered parts of the church, in programs of study of the Bible and related Christian concerns. The changing patterns of education for Mennonite youth made necessary the closing of this chapter of Mennonite education effort. The church educational efforts on other levels have been expanded.

At the same time as the Ontario school has had declining patronage, the Conservative Mennonite Bible School and Institute has experienced increasing interest and attendance. Located at Rosedale, near Plain City, Ohio, it serves primarily the youth of the widely scattered Conservative Mennonite Conference congregations, but includes also some from other conferences.

Mennonite Church Financial "Askings" for 1969-70

By J. J. Hostetler, Secretary of Stewardship Department
Mennonite General Conference

More and more Mennonite congregations are working on budget plans for giving and distribution of their funds. District conferences also set up budgets involving local congregations. In this plan the congregation shares together in a brotherhood way to determine where their gifts and offerings shall be given during the next year.

There are certain fixed amounts needed for the operational costs of the local church. Likewise our churchwide ministries build their program and services on expected receipts. They, too, have fixed costs for the maintenance of facilities, support of workers, and service to people in need. These are our extended ministries of evangelism, missions, training, healing, alleviation of suffering, and the nurture of children, youth, and adults.

The amounts suggested here serve as guides in building congregational budgets. Since many smaller congregations (less than 100 members) often have difficulty in meeting these askings, stronger and larger congregations are encouraged to exceed these amounts. While the askings have been slightly increased this year, all congregations are urged to rise to their potential with increased giving.

	Per Member amount needed each year
1. Mennonite General Conference — Provides services by commissions and committees in their work for the church; Christian nurture, youth ministries, peace and social concerns, church welfare, ministerial, stewardship, worship, historical and research, General Council and executive office.	$3.75
2. Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities — Includes foreign and home missions, relief, VS and I-W services, broadcasting, and Health and Welfare.	33.00

3. Higher Education 10.00
Includes operating and building funds for Hesston, Goshen, Eastern Mennonite, and Conrad Grebel. (Each congregation distributes its higher education funds to the colleges in its own area.)

4. Goshen College Biblical Seminary 4.00
Tuition in a seminary is very low. The seminary must be subsidized in excess of $1,200 per student. This money is used for faculty salaries, library, plant maintenance, and student scholarships.

5. Compassion Fund 6.00
This is a special above-budget asking to make possible additional ministries to people in poverty in our impoverished areas, city and rural. The Fund is to be administered by the MBMC through their Urban Racial Council.

6. District Conference Needs
The district conference askings are so broad and varied that it is impractical to present them here. Congregations should check with their district conference officers or stewardship secretary for the exact figures for their conference. This figure usually includes the district conference and its mission board, secondary and elementary school (if any), mental hospitals, WMSA, camps, homes for the aged, Christian Workers' Conference, as well as other agencies the district may have.

Each of these churchwide ministries is equally responsible for its part in our missionary task and outreach. Each serves significantly in its respective assignment. Congregational leaders, pastors, and officers are encouraged to consider the "Stewardship for Mission" program in preparation for their annual business meetings and budget planning. Congregations having used this program report spiritual renewal and greater commitments. Write or call your district stewardship secretary for literature and counsel in planning.

Nature Magazine Is for the Nature-Lovers

Look is for people who want to look, and Material Handling Engineering is for engineers who enjoy handling material.

Christian Living is a magazine for persons who want to do just that — live Christian. Through articles, poetry, and news geared to the Christian home and community.

For example, this spring and summer we feature: "Evangelical Christianity and Political Ideology." A report from a family adopting a nonwhite child. Robert Baker's "The Preacher Who Sells His Kids." And an illustrated study by Grant Stoltzfus of the Old Mennonite Church over the past three centuries — its flaws and beauty; Grant so aptly calls us "a people apart and a people involved."

Try Christian Living. Use the coupon below to qualify for a 30% introductory discount with a free copy of the Christian Living feature issue, "Will the Mennonites Survive the Seventies?" (One church leader said, "You've touched my soul! I ended up talking with my best and most troublesome friend: the Mennonite Church.")

The Mennonite Hymnal

The reception and appreciation for The Mennonite Hymnal by both the Mennonite Church and the General Conference Mennonite Church have been especially gratifying. The Holy Spirit	13	Times and Seasons	50

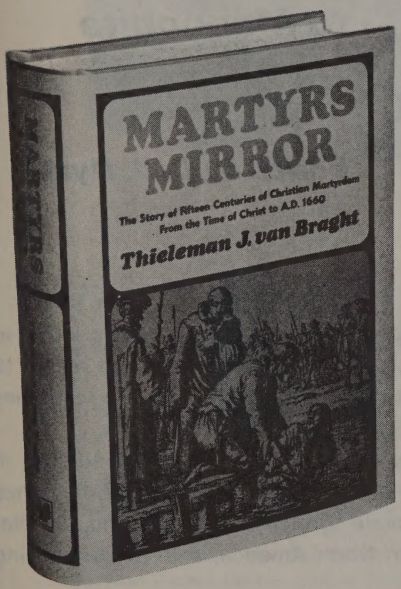
MARTYRS MIRROR

The Story of Fifteen Centuries of Christian Martyrdom from the Time of Christ to A.D. 1660

Here is a collection of the accounts of more than 4,000 people, beginning with the apostles who were willing to bear persecution and death in order to be obedient to Christ and His teachings.



MARTYRS MIRROR
The Story of Fifteen Centuries of Christian Martyrdom From the Time of Christ to A.D. 1660
Thieleman J. van Braght

Thieleman J. van Braght prepared MARTYRS MIRROR with the hope that the stories in it would inspire the reader to hold as tenaciously to his faith as did the martyrs. The heritage of bloodshed and persecution for the sake of a clear conscience and a pure faith grounded in the Word of God is the heritage of the Christian church. Such faith should challenge its descendants today to a greater loyalty to biblical teachings.

To read these accounts of court trials and martyrdoms of a people who expressed supreme allegiance to their Lord and Master is to learn that, come what may, the Christian life is one of supreme discipleship, of strict adherence to the way of life as expressed by Jesus and His apostles.

This is the biggest book produced by Herald Press. It weighs over five pounds, contains 1,158 pages, and was first printed in 1660 in Holland. It is a book of early church history which every Christian should have access to.

An Introduction to Mennonite History

Edited by C. J. Dyck

Here is a history of all the descendants of the Anabaptists found in the Mennonite and Amish groups. This book introduces the reader to the basic historical and doctrinal developments through four centuries of Anabaptist and Mennonite efforts to be the faithful church.

There are chapters in the book entitled: The Mennonites in Russia, The Mennonite Church, The Amish, The General Conference Mennonite Church, The Mennonite Brethren Church, The Smaller Mennonite and Related Groups in North America, and The Continuing Vision.

Here is a book of history that is thorough, yet easy to read. It was prepared as a textbook for use in high schools. It is complete, even includes a four-page index, an Anabaptist-Mennonite family tree, maps, and a chart showing the relationships of the various Mennonite bodies.

If you can purchase only one book on Mennonite history, this is the one to get. It has 400 years of history condensed to 324 pages.
